SJC Bids Farewell To Two Important Colleagues

Dr. Downard, Teacher And Friend

By THERESA BRODEUR

When we think about Dr. William Downard, countless descriptions flow into each of our minds: teacher, friend, counselor, and administrator are all some of the basic descriptions that we give to Dr. Downard.

Bill Downard's students saw all of this and more during each one of his classes. He brought a dynamic aura and excitement to all of his classes. Dr. Downard had a wonderful talent for making us love to learn. He challenged us continuously.

I recall one morning from a junior year history class, Dr. Downard assigned an extra paper. Of course, we all grumbled in a rather obligatory fashion. Dr. Downard just laughed, shrugged his shoulders and said, "Hey, it could be worse." His good-natured manner during all of his classes brought a closeness between him and his students. He made us laugh, while at the same time, we learned valuable lessons about history, life, and people. I feel privileged, as I know the rest of his students do, to have been able to learn not only from him, but with him as well.

We often hear that respect and admiration must be earned. Dr. Downard's unassuming manner and good-nature freely warranted the respect and admiration of all who knew him. It was that manner and good-nature which drew people to him. Every one of his students felt this the first time we walked into our freshman history or Core class.

We always tell people how close the Saint Joseph's community is and how special the faculty make it because of their genuine interest and devotion to the students. Dr. William Downard was the epitome of this. He cared about all of us. He was truly our friend. He enjoyed nothing more than making us all think positively, as he himself did. He made us proud to be a part of the Saint Joseph's community.

Men like Bill Downard are not found very often. He was different. He was special, and a part of Saint Joseph's College that will always be warmly remembered.

We the Co-Editors and staff would like to dedicate this first issue of Stuff to the family of Dr. William Downard, the Society of the Precious Blood and all the friends and loved ones of Father Edwin Kaiser, C.P.P.S., and Dr. William Downard.

For years these two men dedicated their lives to the community of Saint Joseph's College. This issue is but our small way of saying thanks for having shared their lives with us for so many years.

DR. WILLIAM DOWNARD

Fr. Kaiser, Theologian And Author

By DANIEL HOYNG

From September the seventeenth through September the nineteenth, the flag at Saint Joseph's College was flown at half-mast. Many students passed by looking at the flag questioning each other as why the flag was at such a position. For most students, they were unaware that Father Edwin G. Kaiser, C.P.P.S., had passed away.

Father Kaiser had a history attached to Saint Joseph's College that dated back to 1909 when he came to Rensselaer as a student of Saint Joseph's College and remained here until 1915. Father Kaiser returned to Saint Joseph's in 1944 and remained an active member of the faculty until his retirement in 1966. Father Kaiser chose to continue living here at Saint Joseph's College after his retirement and remained here until his death.

Father Kaiser was a true scholar, in 1923 he earned an STD. degree in dogmatic theology from St. John Lateran in Rome in 1923 and did additional postgraduate work at Gregorian University in Rome (1924) and St. Louis University in 1947. He was awarded an honorary degree from Saint Joseph's College in 1967. He also delivered a series of papers to meetings of professional and learned societies and authored 15 books, many after retirement.

In recognition of his scholarship, Saint Joseph's College initiated the "Father Edwin G. Kaiser Scholar Award" and named Kaiser as its first recipient. The award is still given periodically to a Saint Joseph's faculty member for outstanding scholarship.

I could continue to list Father Kaiser's accomplishments but I would rather comment on his charisma and warmth. I have only known Father Kaiser since August of 1982 but I was really touched by him. Here was a priest, who had spent a very active life, confined to walks with a cane around Saint Joseph's College and needed help with things he had done on his own his entire life. Yet, he had the time to remember your name as you passed him and would give you the warmest of smiles. Several faculty members commented that it was amazing how he could, even in his final months, strike up a conversation and he was willing to respond and debate as though age had passed him by.

It was a shame that not many members of our current student body knew Father Kaiser, for in his own way he is very much a part of all of us in the past, present and future student body. The history and dedication he leaves Saint Joseph's College are immense and I hope we all can take a lesson from Father Kaiser and strive to be as good a scholar as our talents will allow us. I'm sure that would be a farewell that Father Kaiser would approve.

Homecoming '84 Activities Begin Friday

By CHRISTINE FORTIN

This year's Homecoming weekend begins with an alumni dinner for the classes of '34, '44, and '59 on Friday night. Saturday's merriments begin at 10:30 a.m. with the opening of the beer and brat tent.

The Blue Key Club is sponsoring the 17th annual Homecoming Parade scheduled to begin at 11:00 a.m. The parade will follow its usual route beginning at St. Augustine's church yard, travelling west on McKinley Street, then down Washington Street through Rensselaer, then moving south to the front entrance of SJC and ending at the fieldhouse. Parade entrants include special guest Honorable Mr. Charles Halleck and Grand Marshal Mrs. Sue Downard. Other entries include a few high school bands, the Shriners, the sheriff's posse, pom-poms, cheerleaders and three floats. President of the Blue Key, Diana Szucs, comments that late entries are welcome; just contact her at extension 375. She also requests that all parade participants meet at St. Augustine's no later than 10:15 Saturday morning.

The main event of Homecoming '84 — the football game — will begin at 1:30 p.m. when the SJC Pumas will battle the Butler Bulldogs. A post-game happy hour will be held at Halleck Center.

Saturday night there is an alumni dinner in the west side of the fieldhouse for the remaining 5-year reunions. The Alumni Service Award will be given to an alumnus based on outstanding service in various ways. Also a committee of alumni will name the Most Valuable Player of Saturday's game and he will receive the Rudy Volz MVP Award. This award is in honor of Rudy Volz, a graduate of the SJC class of 1955. He was an Alumni Director and was killed in an auto accident. He actively involved himself with the athletic department as a student and remained a great sports enthusiast, according to Brother Gerard Von Hagel. At 9:30 p.m., the Homecoming Dance / Student - Alumni Mixer will get under way in the ballroom.

The new Director of Alumni Affairs, Doug Drake, is looking forward to his first SJC Homecoming and encourages everyone to join in the festivities. Drake adds, "I also ask that all of us be at our most considerate during Homecoming weekend. Alumni and other friends of the College will be visiting the campus, and we should all endeavor to make their visit an enjoyable one. So, if you happen upon any lost souls aimlessly roaming around the Grotto, please help guide them along the straight and narrow (if well-trod) path to the beer & brat tent. You will gain merit in heaven."

Cubmania

Puma Style

It would seem a difficult task not to be caught up in all the Cubs happenings. From the hallowed halls of Halas and Justin to the outer reaches of Bennet and Seifert viewing Cubs' games has surpassed studying, and running for senate elections. Watching afternoon Cubs' games is now more important than watching All My Children!

All this Cubmania seems to be a bit much, of course this article is being written by a diehard Cincinnati Reds' fan, something that my roommate so painfully reminds me of after each Cubs' victory. But then again, I have to hand it to all you Cubs' fans, 39 years is a long time to wait, even though for most campus Cubs' fans that more than doubles their years on this earth.

However, I must admit that I too find myself dreadfully caught up in all this hoopla. I sit attentively through each Cubs' game as though it was the seventh game of the World Series, waiting for Harry Carey to echo his famous chant of CUBS WIN, CUBS WIN, CUBS WIN! Of course, every time I view a person drinking a Budweiser, it reminds of me of good ol' Harry, who finds at least ten to twelve times a game to offer up a Bud for his loyal Cubs' contingent.

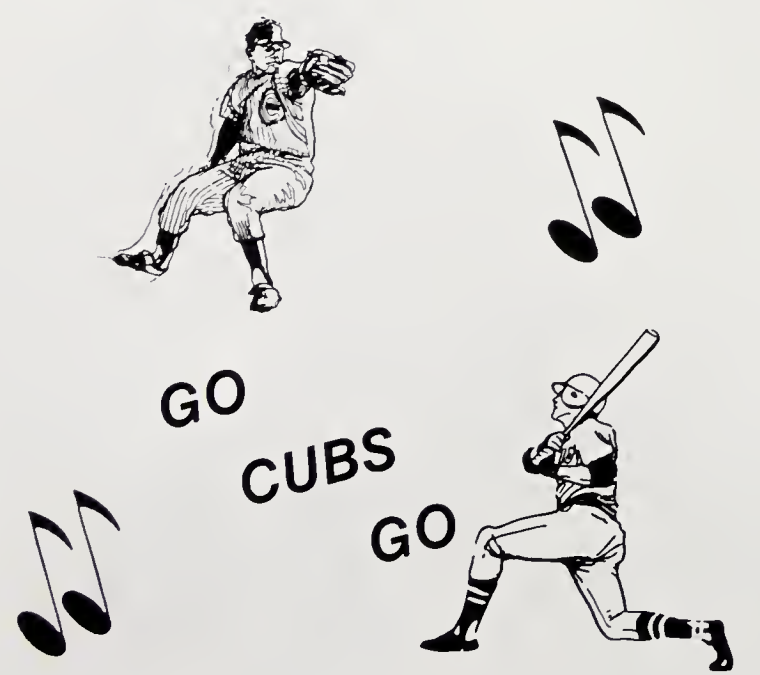

Where does all this Cubs' madness leave the non-Cubs' fan here on campus? The story was told that on the night the Cubs clinched the National League East a particular Puma gal ventured to visit her sweetheart in Seifert, only to find him so caught up in the Cubs' game that he did not even notice her. Becoming frustrated, she ran through the hallways using expletives, that we can not print in this paper, about our dear old Cubs. How she escaped with her life, I don't know.

For all the years I have been following baseball I thought that the song "Take Me Out To The Ballgame" was reserved for the seventh inning stretch. However, the men of Gallagher have broken this tradition. Not a party can pass without having someone starting the song and everyone echoing along. All adding their favorite part to this baseball tradition, "ROOT, ROOT, ROOT, for the CUBBIES." Then chugging one for old Harry.

The night the Cubs clinched the National East, I was filled with so much joy, and some of the campus unmentionables, that I could not help but to think what it must have been like for you Cubs' fans who have waited so long. I understand that a few of the campus faithful even ventured to Rush Street in Chicago on this glorious night.

Cubs' fans are truly the greatest in the world and for you non-Cubs' fans just think you can almost count the days before the season has drawn to a close! Boyfriends and girlfriends can talk, champagne will not be flowing in our hallways, and we will be listening to Michael Jackson again.

But for all of you non-sports fans, trouble could again be on the horizon. What's that? The Bears with a winning record!

The "Puma Attitude" is unique, but not necessarily something to be proud of. There is no denying it! Pumas are a rare breed and share a disposition that no other species comes close to.

We have an amazing concern for everything that should be important to us. Our priorities are set by the campus status quo, which isn't very good.

I feel obliged to clue in the freshmen as to how one should behave at St. Joe's. First of all, you must under no circumstances, show outward concern for your grades. Afterall, working hard to earn good grades is nothing to be proud of! Of course, it is necessary to study in order to stay on campus, but my advice to you is to camouflange your studying. (Tell them you were sleeping, or you just can't absorb anything right now.) Appearing to be a pencil-head will only cause your social life to suffer.

The second rule of puma behavior also concerns apathy. Never, for any reason, should you show interest in campus activities! (Excluding intramurals, of course!) If someone should happen to see you at an activity, for example some sort of cultural event, you must make excuses. Lie, tell them that you had no idea that there was going to be a political debate in the auditorium — "I came here to get some sleep."

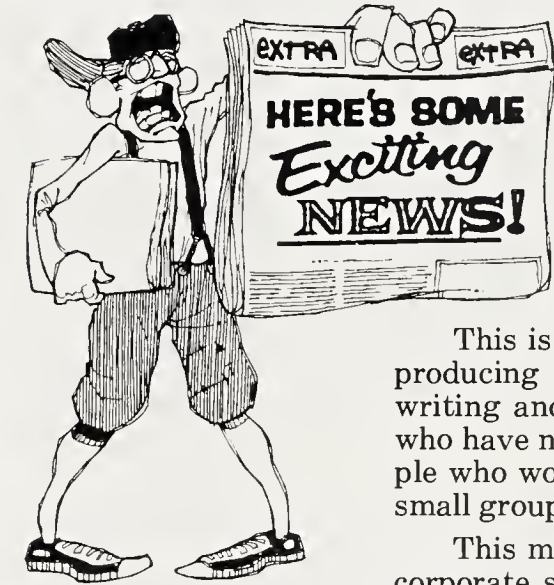

Not only should you appear to be apathetic, but it is crucial to your image to criticize those who are socially responsible.

By now you may be doubting that the student body is as disconcerting as I am portraying them to be. If so, consider Puma Fest and the Senate Elections. The handful of individuals (the dorm governors) that tried to inspire us for Puma Fest struck out. They now qualify for that category of responsible students who should be criticized and laughed at. Then, in respect to the "Senate by Default," we can all rest easy knowing that our student government is in good hands.

Certainly anyone can see that the trend on campus is APATHY. If you would like to really be vogue, perhaps you should adapt a cynical outlook. This will make you the life of all the dry parties. Sarcasm will lead you to new heights of fame on this campus. Sincerity and optimism have no place in a young person's life.

My editors told me to write more, but right now I just don't care . . .

New Stuff, New Staff!

This is a whole new Stuff. The group of people producing this paper come from many different writing and editing backgrounds. We have people who have never worked on a newspaper before, people who worked on other newspapers, and finally a small group of those who worked on Stuff last year.

This mixture has made it possible for us to incorporate some fresh, new ideas into a framework that has existed since 1938.

We the editors and staff have attempted to create a more open publication. We have a new section in our newspaper that will make it's first appearance in our second issue and will become a regular part of Stuff once every month for the rest of the year. This selection allows you, the student, to submit creative writing, small drawings, photographs, and satires that you feel could or should appear in Stuff. We invite you to help us produce this section by giving us your creations.

The staff of Stuff hopes that you will find this year's paper entertaining and creative as well as informative.

Published bi-weekly during the school year, except during calendar holidays of Thanksgiving and Easter, and monthly in December by students of Saint Joseph's College, Rensselaer, Indiana. Students receive this paper as part of the student activity fee paid each semester.

The opinions expressed in STUFF are not necessarily those of the student body, the administration, the faculty or all of the members of the STUFF staff.

Saint Joseph's News Briefs

By JOHN RICKERT

REFRIGERATOR FEE

Yet another fee has been added to our already monumental bill here at Saint Joseph's College. What fee is that you ask? The refrigerator utility fee, of course. Due to rather substantial increases in electrical fees, the college is forced to charge a fee of twenty-five dollars per semester for each room bearing a refrigerator.

Utility costs have tripled throughout the state of Indiana. Saint Joseph's College receives its power from the Rensselaer Central Authority. This company receives its power from Wabash Valley Power Authority and Northern Indiana Public Service Company (NIPSCO). NIPSCO is recognized as the third highest charging power company in the nation. Don't forget the Wabash Valley Power Authority is adding their costs.

It is predicted that the rates will not decrease substantially until 1986. Until then refrigerator users, just dig a little deeper into those already empty pockets.

SENATE ELECTIONS

Senate elections were held for all the dormitories on Monday, September 24. However, due to the lack of petitions, those candidates who had their petitions in by the deadline were automatically elected.

The senators from Bennett are: Stan Skawinski, and Phil Knockel.

William Boyle, Glen Wilcox, and Robert Craigin are elected senators for Gallagher.

The Halas senators are: Marie Vigeant, Karen Pasterick, and Theresa Yanan.

The senators from Justin are: Lisa Berube, Lina Chesak, Denise Cordrey, Lori Jeleski, Carrie Mondsheen, and Michelle Schuck.

The Noll senators are: Danny Osbourne and Tony O'Connor.

Tom Stefanicik, Phillip Rosner, and John Boggie are the Seifert senators.

Merlini Hall, Aquanis Hall, and Schwietermann Hall do not have dorm senators since no one sent in Senate petitions at this time.

FRESHMAN ELECTIONS

On Thursday, Sept. 20, Joe Chesak defeated Tim Daly and was elected Freshmen Class President. The victory was not easy. Chesak and Daly were tied at eighty-seven votes apiece on the scheduled election day which forced a run-off. When all the votes were counted, Chesak won 85 to 69.

Joe Chesak is very optimistic about his new responsibilities and already has plans for this year. He believes that a lot of fine things can happen this year.

Other offices filled include Vice President Megan Adrian and Secretary Rich Rozzi.

Campus Ministry Undergoes Changes

By PATTY SLEVIN

Campus Ministry is an organization on campus that has undergone a drastic change in structure since last year. This year, under the direction of Father Robert Matichek, C.P.P.S., the chaplain, and Carol O'Saben, the student program coordinator, the emphasis will be on "team approach" to Campus Ministry.

"The enthusiasm this year has been encouraging. With the new structure the students are realizing that they do not have to necessarily be Catholic to participate in Campus Ministry. The diversification enables everyone to participate," Carol O'Saben told Stuff.

This new structure has resulted in the formation of six departments representing each program that Campus Ministry offers. Each of these departments has a chairperson who is responsible for all activities in that department and for directing those students who participate in them.

The Music Ministry Department is chaired by Tina O'Drobinak. Students in Music Ministry volunteer their time to play a musical instrument or sing at masses and special programs.

The Liturgical Ministries Department consists of those students who help out at masses with the readings and distribution of Eucharist. These students are under the direction of Charlie Borger.

Campus Ministry also offers a chance for students to volunteer their time and talent to the Rensselaer Community Care Center, visiting the elderly, providing companionship, and helping in various games and workshops with the residents of the Care Center. This department is headed by Annette Klinker and Annette Merkel.

For those students interested in working with children, Campus Ministry offers two unique programs. The Big Brother/Big Sister program, chaired by Amy Sieczkowski, offers students the chance to work with children from broken and disadvantaged homes throughout the Rensselaer community. The other program is under the direction of Matt Boyle and involves volunteering at the Comprehensive Development Center in town working with mentally and/or physically handicapped children and adults.

The sixth department is under the supervision of Joanne Tomko and is responsible for the organizing, planning, and carrying out of retreats throughout the school year. The first retreat will be held October 26 through 28. Father Matichek and a staff composed of Saint Joe students have for the past month been preparing for this weekend retreat. They have selected as their theme, "Building Bridges... to yourself, between yourself and others, and between yourself and God."

The retreat will have a certain amount of structure in that there will be a few talks, given by SJC students, and activities relating to the theme. Also, the retreat will be a chance for students to get away from the hustle and bustle of everyday life, and from the demands of classes and jobs. The retreat will be held at the Tippecanoe River State Park near Winamac, IN. For more information, contact any one of the Campus Ministry officers.

Dr. Nichols Appointed Dean

By DAN HOYNG & BRENDA HARSHA

This has been a busy year for the committee appointed to make their recommendations for the position of Vice President for Academic Affairs. The committee, consisting of nine faculty members and two students, was first formed in the spring of 1984 to find a replacement for Dr. Robert Garrity who had expressed his intent to step down into a fulltime teaching position.

The committee chose Dr. William Downard, who was then approved by the President of Saint Joseph's College, Father Charles Banet, C.P.P.S. Dr. Downard assumed the position in July of this year, but only served 48 days, before Saint Joseph's College was befallen with his unexpected death.

The committee was again asked to recommend another candidate for Vice President for Academic Affairs. The committee, thus after accepting applications, recommended Dr. John P. Nichols, who was approved on October 1 by Father Banet, C.P.P.S.

Dr. Nichols has already assumed the position of Vice President of Academic Affairs and he will be carrying out all duties which now apply to that office.

Dr. John P. Nichols started teaching Philosophy at Saint Joe's in 1968. Dr. Nichols is now the Core Coordinator and professor of Philosophy.

Congressional Candidates Debate

By KATE CONLON

With the beginning of each new school year comes new ideas. S.A. President Ann O'Hara's latest was a debate between 5th District Congressman Elwood "Bud" Hillis and his opponent in this November's election Dr. Allen Maxwell. The debate was held in the auditorium on Sunday, September 30 and was open to the public. WFLI-TV out of Lafayette covered the debate, which was not only the first ever held on campus, but also the first official debate of the campaign.

Mr. Shannon Dehn, director of Core I, served as moderator. A panel of four members, three from the school and one from the Rensselaer community alternated asking questions to the two candidates. The panel consisted of two students, Kevin Fleck and Debbie Ford, both seniors, faculty member Miss Mary Margaret Smith, and Mr. Wally Laird, a Rensselaer resident.

The issues ranged from the U.S. policy in the Middle East, nuclear war and disarmament, a proposed farm bill that would affect this community, to the economic recovery, specifically in the fifth district. The format was this: each candidate had five minutes for an introduction. After each question was posed both Hillis and Maxwell had two minutes to comment on the subject of that specific question.

The debate closed with Dr. Maxwell stating the major differences in his views and those of Mr. Hillis. Congressman Hillis finished with a statement that Dr. Maxwell was a liberal and he was a conservative. Ann O'Hara closed the debate with an announcement that any student who isn't registered to vote may do so at the courthouse before October 8.

Memos From A Cluttered Mind

By RICK CANNON

Hello, my name is Richard Cannon — most people call me Rick. I am a junior here at Saint Joe's but sitting here thinking about what to write somehow makes me feel like a freshman. This is my first year with Stuff, consequently my first article. I was awarded this column, not because of my exceptional writing skills but because of my innate ability to pick up "the word" on this soap-opera like campus.

I am going to entitle my article "Memos From A Cluttered Mind." I'm using the paper for what it is there for. This paper is for you, the student. It is your outlet to express your feelings. Contrary to what many of you believe, Stuff is a good paper because it is written by good people for good people. Which is what my article today is about.

Earlier in this article I stated I felt like a freshman. Well, you all know as well as I do that this is an understatement. Lord knows as upperclassmen, we all know what it feels like to be a freshman. So it is to the freshmen class I write today's article.

First of all, let me welcome you to Saint Joseph's College. Saint Joe's is unlike any other school in that this school is you and I. Saint Joseph's is people — from Father Banet to your next door neighbor.

If you have lived in your dorm to this point, chances are you will stay there for your entire four years. The first thing you, as a freshman, must remember is the people who live on your floor are the people you will live with for nine months. They might seem ruthless animals waiting for fresh meat! Actually they're not that bad; in fact, they will probably end up being some of your best friends. So the next time any of you cocky freshmen get "pennied in" make sure you return the money to the perpetrator. Ya know we're all on a tight budget; every penny counts!

So to all you freshmen, what I am saying is, that the more you put into SJC the more SJC gives back to you. (Except for peace bonds, so far I have received no interest on mine!)

Third Annual Pumafest Held

By DAN HOYNG

The 1984 edition of Pumafest was held on Sunday, September 30. Perhaps a black cat had passed by the organizing committee during preparations for this year's Pumafest as many things just did not go as planned.

To begin with, Pumafest was to have been held on Sunday, September 23, 1984, but rain and cold weather forced Special Events Chairman of the Student Association Rich Krupa to postpone the event until September 30.

Contestants from all dorms were expected, but as the starting time of 1:00 p.m. came, only the faithful from Noll, Gallagher, and Justin Halls showed up. The poor showing did not hinder the enthusiasm of those that had arrived. So the day went on as scheduled.

The competition was broken down into eight categories, which were: the bed race, people pyramid, water-balloon toss, dizzy lizzy, spud run, belching contest, piggy back race, and the mystery eating contest. The teams were competing for cash prizes of $75 dollars for first place, $50 for second place and $25 for third place. With all teams assured of a cash prize the competition began.

The bed race featured six team members with one on the mattress and the other five carrying the participant. The girls of Justin gave it a gallant effort, but the men of Noll finished first.

Noll continued its winning ways throughout the afternoon as they won the People Pyramid, belching and mystery eating contest. The mystery eating contest was a delight to watch as each participant was given a box of Twinkies and had three minutes to eat as many as one could in that given time.

The men of Gallagher turned in a fine day as well, considering that they missed the first event. Winning the water balloon toss was Puma quarterback Tim Miloserny catching the winning balloon. The spud run, dizzy lizzy, and the piggy back race added to their victories.

The women of Justin should be commended as they gave it their all and managed to finish second in a couple of events. But the day belonged to Noll who finished first with 100 points, Gallagher was second with 85, and Justin a distant third with 60 points.

Three years ago Pumafest was held and teams from every dorm took part in the day's activities. The weather cannot be the excuse for lack of teams as it was a beautiful day for any sporting event. Let's only hope that future programs are better attended, just ask the men of Noll and Gallagher and the women of Justin. They had fun and went home with some cash, too.

Tim Daly seems to enjoy the "mystery eating contest." To his delight Twinkies were the mystery food. (Photo by Ruthann Goller)

Social Preview

By CHRISTINE FORTIN

I have heard it said that life is 10% what you make it and 90% how you take it, so make the most of these upcoming events...

Wednesday, Oct. 3 — The Puma soccer team kicks off this two-week agenda with a game at Manchester College, the women of Justin Hall have their annual picnic and afterwards there is an Accounting Study Seminar in Halleck room 204 from 7 - 9 p.m.

Thursday, Oct. 4 — Get up and eat a bagel, go to class and have a healthy day.

Friday, Oct. 5 — Homecoming weekend begins with an alumni reunion dinner for the classes of '34, '44, and '59, and for the students... Party with a Puma or a Pumette.

Saturday, Oct. 6 — It's Homecoming! Our football Pumas will battle the Butler Bulldogs beginning at 1:30 p.m. The soccer team is playing at Concordia with game time set at 10:30 a.m. and the women's volleyball team is playing in an invitational at ISU-Evansville. Then at 9:30 p.m. is the Homecoming Dance featuring the band "Amusement Park." The dance is being held in the ballroom.

Sunday, Oct. 7 — The volleyball invitational continues at ISU-Evansville.

Monday, Oct. 8 — It's Chris Columbus Day! In honor of this great event the junior class will begin selling Hershey Kisses to be delivered to your sweetie on Sweetest Day, Oct. 20. There is also an HSUB meeting at 6:00 p.m. in the Campus Life office and the Psych Club is playing Bingo at the Care Center.

Tuesday, Oct. 9 — What?! Nothing going on today in the densely populated metropolitan SJC campus?

Wednesday, Oct. 10 — There is another Accounting Seminar in Halleck Center room 204 from 7 - 9 p.m. and the volleyball team travels to IUPUI-Fort Wayne.

Thursday, Oct. 11 — Today is the end of midterm. Only 8 more weeks until Christmas Break! The Columbian Players have a meeting at 6 p.m. in the auditorium.

Friday, Oct. 12 — Luckily there are no classes today so we'll all be able to spend the day the way we really want... in the library from 8 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. (That is, of course, if we don't have to road-trip.) There is also a volleyball invitational here.

Saturday, Oct. 13 — Library hours are cut down to noon until 5:00 p.m., the soccer team goes to Valpo, the football team goes to Ashland College, and the volleyball invitational continues.

Sunday, Oct. 14 — Happiness for throats (people obsessed with studying) today. The library is open two times in one day: from 1 p.m. until 5 p.m. and 7 p.m. until 11 p.m.

Monday, Oct. 15 — The Psych Club Flower Sale for Sweetest Day ends today. There is a Psych Club meeting at 6:30 p.m. in the psych lab and an HSUB meeting at 6 p.m. in the Campus Life office.

Tuesday, Oct. 16 — The S.A. presents a reputable comedian Paul Provenza as part of the continuing Special Event Series. Paul has appeared on Late Night with David Letterman, The Tonight Show and numerous cable engagements. To add to his list he will be appearing in the Snack Bar of the Halleck Center tonight. The volleyball team travels to Marion College and there is a C.O.S. meeting at 6 p.m. in the North Lounge of the Halleck Center.

Wednesday, Oct. 17 — The soccer team hosts Fairhaven Baptist College at 4 p.m. There is a Science Club meeting at 6 p.m. and yet another Accounting Study Seminar from 7 - 9 p.m. in room 204 Halleck.

Well, that's all for this edition of the Social Preview. Tune in next issue for more spectacular goings-on; same Puma columnist, same Puma paper.

Play Performance Nears

By MOLLY VANDER WERFF & CHRISTINE FORTIN

Saint Joseph’s College Theatre and the Columbian Players are pleased to announce their latest dramatic pursuit, “Bedroom Farce,” a refreshing English comedy in two acts written by Alan Ackman in 1977. The play involves four married couples residing in three bedrooms. Cast members include Nichole Steininger, Mike Bogan, Charlie Borger, Noreen Miller, Tony Bir, Molley Vander Werff, Alicia Graves, and Rich Krupa. The play is directed by Brother James Mignery, C.P.P.S., with assistant director Nancy Pope.

The cast has been practicing for about a month. This is Brother Mignery’s fourth year here at SJC as an instructor and he is very enthusiastic about the play. He commented, “There are a lot of experienced actors and actresses in the show. I’ve worked with them all before and they are a delight to work with.” Brother Mignery has worked on many different kinds of plays and continues trying new approaches to character development. He also added, “Brother Tony Baltese, C.P.P.S., Father Al Naseman, C.P.P.S., and Dr. David Chesak have helped out in many ways. With this support it makes my work easier and more fulfilling.” Performance dates are October 18, 19, 20, and 21.

IM Play-Offs Draw Near

By MATT WEBER

As the Saint Joe football schedule is just getting underway, the bruised and battered intramural teams look to conclude the ’84 season. With squads completing their final week of play, top teams will duel for the respective titles.

Title contenders in the men’s division include the Gallagher Gators (6-0) and the East Seifert Rat Pack (5-1). The women’s division is very competitive with no clear-cut favorite. The leaders include Justin 2nd East (4-1), Halas Fools and Justin Skoal each with a 3-2 record. The 3rd East Red Alert, with a 0-5 record, have had early difficulties but plan to finish strong.

Rick O’Connell, East Seifert Rat Pack captain, credits his team’s success to plenty of talent and a competitive spirit. With confidence, he boasts of a potential championship for the Rats. Meanwhile, the Gallagher Gators have a different plan. Pat Graham, Gator’s captain, rests his squad’s success on experience and many returning players. He looks on Seifert as his team’s only real opponent but feels they offer no real opposition to the crown. As the boasting continues, only time will reveal the true champions.

Karyn Nosal, Halas Fools’ captain, says success is rooted in her team’s ability to work as a team and employ a positive attitude. The Skoal team has many new faces ac-

Sanman’s Rock Report

By JOHN SANCHEZ

If you talk to an average rock and roll listener nowadays, they’ll never be able to tell you which way the music industry is headed. Most of them would probably say that, with the rise of New Wave, rock and roll is progressing forward with a technological sound. But if you look at the charts or listen to TOP 40 radio, you’ll find that this is only partly true. The sudden upsurge of Heavy Metal has seemingly brought out the “head-bangers” in almost all of us. So rock and roll is also regressing back to the early 70’s when great

Purple Pride

By ANNA WILLIAMSON

Purple Pride, established by Bill Hogan, is a newly-created student organization aimed at motivating students to support Saint Joe’s athletic teams and go to the games. It is anticipated that this attempt will result in the development of more spirit and pride in being a Puma.

Members are required to attend at least 75% of the home games of one of the four major sports (football, volleyball, men’s and women’s basketball) of their choice.

In return, members will receive a reserved seat and a free bag of popcorn at football and men’s basketball games. If a member were to attend all home games of one sport, he will receive a Puma painter’s hat or a T-shirt.

Purple Pride membership is presently at about 50 and expected to increase.

Eyink Impresses Many While Running For New Records

by JACKIE HARRISON

“Just give it your all, all the time” is sophomore sensation Lorna Eyink’s motto. Lorna amazed track and cross country fans last year with her record breaking strides, and she’s back on the track doing it again this year. She is the only cross country runner that is undefeated.

Lorna has been running since the seventh grade. Her high school career as a runner was filled with breaking school records, mainly in the 5,000, winning invitational meets, and being a qualifier for the State Championship three times in her home state of Ohio. Lorna enjoyed running in high school and was a winner then. Now that she has made the move to SJC, things haven’t changed a bit for her. “I feel I made a good choice coming to SJC . . .”

With success always comes hard work and a few frustrations. Lorna admits there are times when things get rough. “The difficult part a lot of times is getting yourself prepared mentally. The time will come when you have to tell yourself to push harder, especially at the end of a long, hard race, and your muscles are aching with pain. That’s when you pay for the success and all the publicity and glory you get.” Sometimes motivation and nerves can be a problem for runners, but it’s never a problem for Lorna when it’s time to run. “Before I run, I think about what I’m going to do, and I go through the course in my mind a lot because it’s easy to make a wrong turn and get lost,” she says as she begins to laugh, remembering a time when she almost made that mistake. “I also must admit I make a few trips to the restroom to relieve the tension and calm my nerves.”

Nearly every outstanding athlete sets goals for him or herself. When thinking of her goals, the three things that come to Lorna’s mind are winning Little State, running faster than last year’s time, and remaining undefeated.

Gridders Experienced

By AL KARABA

The days are getting shorter, the air is becoming cooler, and once again it's time for Saturday afternoon football games. Head coach Bill Jennings and this year's team have been practicing since Aug. 20 and are currently in the midst of another gridiron season.

The coaching staff includes Jennings, beginning his eighteenth season here at Saint Joe, and Bill Reagan, defensive coordinator and backfield coach, back for his third season. New faces on the staff include Jim Blake and Nick Calcutta.

Coach Blake comes to Saint Joe from the University of Southern Colorado, where he was defensive secondary coach. He was also defensive coordinator at Triton Junior College in Illinois. At Saint Joe, he is working with the linebackers.

Calcutta, Saint Joe's new offensive line coach, was recently the outside linebacker coach at Memphis State. Previous to that position, he was the assistant coach at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, the Division I-AA National Champions.

Also helping out this season as assistants are Scott Stewart (defensive line), Vince Massey (receivers), Mike Jacobs (running backs), and Dave Bormann, an '82 graduate of Saint Joe, who returns this year to coach the defensive ends and head up the Puma Junior Varsity program.

This season's Puma offense is led by junior quarterback Tim Miloserny. Also back are two of the teams' three top groundgainers of a year ago in Jim Boswell and Ken Kahlenbeck as well as all-conference wide receiver Russ Den-nick. Leading the Puma offensive line s seniors Dan Frederick (tight end) and co-captain/center Willie Hutt. Junior linemen include Tony Scholey, Howard Hicks, and Ralph Loura.

Six seniors head up the Puma defense including tackles Dave Jesie and Ken Budz, linebackers Brian Williamson and Gary Fingerhut, and defensive backs Larry Jacob (co-captain) and Mike Cage. Also strengthening the defense are noseguard Pete Ippolito, linebacker Tony Hoop, and cornerback Larry Kissinger.

PUMAS END 18 YEAR DROUGHT!

The Pumas lost their season opener in a close 11-7 game against Northeastern Illinois but came back for a very exciting 10-6 victory over the favored Wayne State Tarters. The Pumas then travelled to Evansville for a 37-23 victory over the heavily-favored Aces. It was Saint Joseph's first victory in Evansville since 1966.

The next Puma home game is the Homecoming game against Butler.

Fall Sports Well Into Seasons

By JACKIE HARRISON & ANNA WILLIAMSON

VOLLEYBALL

"We may be down, but don't count us out" is the attitude women's volleyball coach Linda Taulman has. The team's record is 1-9, with its first victory against Bellarmine College, but Taulman feels it's just a matter of time before the team catches that winning feeling. "I haven't given up on them, and I don't feel my girls will give up either. We have a very young and inexperienced team, so we are just being patient until we get the intensity and team movement we need to win."

Leadership of the team is looked to in Linda Wiesenhanan, top player and junior co-captain. Kammy Hires, sophomore co-captain, is also counted on for an all-around good performance, as are outstanding freshman Jenny Smith and Kelley Kerber for her great spiking ability.

"Our goal is set for the Great Lakes Valley Conference (Nov. 9-10). We are the host this year, and the only thing better than hosting it is winning it. If we can do that regardless of our win-loss record. I'll be happy."

WOMEN'S CROSS COUNTRY

Winning! Winning! Winning! This is what the women's cross country team has been doing since their season began. With half of the season over, the team is undefeated. "Our team is made up of very talented, hardworking, and dedicated runners. I think that is why our season has been so successful," senior captain Karen Watt says.

Women's coach Dave Smith says he is very pleased with the performance of his girls thus far. "I feel we have the best Division II cross country team in Indiana. We have a good chance to qualify individuals, if not the team, for the national championships. For right now, I'm more interested in getting the team in good condition," Smith says.

Among the newcomers to the team are freshmen Jackie Rignier and Theresa Klingenberg, whom Smith sees as his two best freshmen. Returning key individuals for the lady runners are Lorna Eyink, Karla Berry, and Watt. Last year's team placed second in the Little State meet, losing to Manchester by a point. Smith says he sees victory in sight for this year.

MEN'S CROSS COUNTRY

"Consistently improving" is the way cross country coach Dave Smith best describes his team. "We didn't come back from the summer in the very best of condition so we are working very hard to condition and prepare ourselves for the rest of the summer. We have been performing better with each meet, so that's all I can ask for," Smith comments.

Although the team hasn't done as well as Smith has expected, due to lack of conditioning, several team members have had some good performances. "Tim Lax (co most valuable runner, 1984-85) and Dan Newton had very good performances in the Indiana State - Evansville Invitational meet (Sept. 22). Matt Kaperka also had his best meet. Tim Potts and Bill Sperry are also among the top five runners for us," the coach says. The Pumas placed second in that tri-meet.

Looking toward the future, Smith's expectations of the team are to continue to improve by getting physically prepared. Due to the fact that this is a fairly young group of runners (only one senior), Smith's goal for this team is to finish in the middle of the pack of the 20 colleges participating in the Indiana Little State Meet. "By the time our sophomores are seniors, I'm sure we'll be right there at the top," he concluded.

BASEBALL

Coach John Pullin describes his team as being very young but is extremely pleased with the way the players developed over the summer and feels that they will become very competitive as the season progresses.

Pullin says that the two seniors and six juniors on the squad provide a leadership quality to the younger members. He is especially pleased with the talent of the sophomores on the team and is also impressed with the abilities of the freshman pitchers.

The future looks promising as Pullin says that this year's team is in the same situation that the Cubs were two years ago, and look what the Cubs are doing this year!

WOMEN'S TENNIS

The women's tennis team as a whole is playing very well this year as they sport a winning record. On Sept. 21, the Lady Pumas beat Lewis for the first time ever by 7-2.

This year's starters include Judy Stewart, Karen Sefferlen, Kathy Bruin, Debbie Freche, Karen Kolesiak, and Penny Williams. Coach John Barrientos believes that the squad will make a better showing in next weekend's conference match than they have in recent years.

GOLF

The golfers finished 7th, beaten only by Division I teams, in the Indiana Invitational held Sept. 24. In the match, Marty Carroll shot a 162, while Pat Bayley and Chuck Anderson each shot a 163, and John O'Brien, a 165. This is an excellent display of how evenly matched the team is this year.

The golfers sport an impressive 67-15 record, and coach Dale Anderson looks to the upcoming conference meets with anticipation and enthusiasm.
